Numbers kind to some, not to others

By Baron von Butterbrain

Thursday, Sept. 17, 1998

TFL Today Senior Correspondent It's a numbers game.

Six 49er touchdowns and not a single one to Jerry Rice. Barons win, clinging to a 6-point lead and barely escaping a challenge from the Arctic Gators (the G in Gators standing for "gag.")

Of those six 49er touchdowns, Steve Young accounts for four. East Hartford's Ex-Eskimos turn a paltry, 9-point Sunday total into a 37-21 victory over Lackawanna.

And of Young's four, one of them is a pass to Terrell Owens, giving Willow a comeback win over Narcoossec

Meanwhile, of the two 49er scores that Young wasn't personally responsible for, Garrison Hearst handled one and went nuts on the ground, giving the Alaska Oosiks their second win and possession of league leadership in points.

You read right. The Alaska Oosiks are 2-0 and lead the TFL in points.

As far-reaching as Young's mastery of the Redskins' defense, so was his influence on the TFL standings.

Baltimore and Willow were the two luckiest benefactors. "We sweated bullets knowing all Rice had to do was catch one TD pass and we were at best tied," said Barons owner Steve Katz. "I mean, (Gators owner Mark) Dolan throws everything including the kitchen sink at me Sunday night. Even the stupid New England defense scored, making the situation pretty dicey entering Monday night.

But six touchdowns and not even one to Rice? That hasn't happened in San Francisco since the earthquake. The 1906 one."

Rice did haul in a 57-yard pass and got all the way to the Redskins 10, with Katz screaming at him all the way, before Darrell Green, once the NFL's fastest man, got the angle and dragged him down.

The loss couldn't have happened to a nicer guy. Dolan went into Sunday's action knowing both his starting running backs were benched by their teams before the games, even though Curtis Enis did see some PT.

Gators, baby. Yeah, right. Willow's Terrell Owens caught a scoring pass from Young and had 7 points, handing Narcoossee a 46-45 heartbreaker. "We're glad we won," said Willow's Van Williams in a made-up quote obtained out of thin air, where Van keeps an office...

That noise you just heard was Narcoossee's Wit Tuttell throwing a chair threw his window after enduring the loss. Tuttell was so despondent, he called the TFL offices to exchange a bad running back for a worse one, Charlie Garner for "Duces are wild" Staley.

In week 3, Tuttell has to sit down Jamal Anderson and Tony Martin on bye weeks for his game against Katz, who could seize Horshack divisional leadership with a win.

In Barrow, Alaska, the mood was as good . . . as the mood can be in Barrow, Alaska.

Charles Bingham's first phone message of the year began with, "Laugh at my picks, will you?"

Bingham rode Hearst's rushing performance to a 53-point output in trouncing Limerick.

Terrell Davis was the star of the Oosiks' show, racking up 31 points on an electrifying, 3touchdown day at Mile High Stadium. Bingham calmly explained he hadn't expected to get two backs of that quality.

"Hearst was my 8" or 9" rated back, and I read a couple magazines that said if you can one of the top 10, grab him. And I got two."

Team Mirage takes a rest this week, though, when Bingham has to sit half his team on byes.

There is, by the way, another 2-0 team. Speaking of electrifying, Barry Sanders shake-and-baked (or is that shook-and-baked?) his way to a Barry Sanders day, with three scintillating scoring dashes and a 27-point day. We'll hear more about it when Denver Pyles owner Mike Taylor writes a story.

Injuries have league-wide ripple effect

By Baron von Butterbrain TFL Today

Ickey Woods had nothing on the TFL. Get ready for the Roster Shuffle.

Elvis Grbac got hurt last week and will miss a few weeks, and this week it was Brad Johnson, Troy Aikman and Dorsey Levens suffering injuries that will shelve them for at least a month. Jim Harbaugh's finger took a beating last week as well, but he played Sunday and may continue to.

The effects of this on the TFL? Rich Gannon replaced Grbac but hasn't been picked up by anybody. Instead, Baltimore owner Steve Katz plucked Danny Kannell of the New York Giants from the ranks of the undrafted.

Johnson's replacement, Randall Cunningham, is also Scott Lacy's. The Bagdad owner drafted him as insurance in case Johnson's neck injury flared up. Instead, a defensive lineman flared into Johnson's leg and broke it, giving Cunningham a starting job for at least a few weeks and Bagdad a simple, plug-in roster move.

Anchorage's Nate
Sagan replaced Aikman with Jason Garrett, a non-fantasy factor in his own right, but owners of Michael Irvin (Katz) and
Emmitt Smith (Limerick's Michael Bourque) may feel

some impact because of adjustments in Dallas's attack.

"We hope Jason Garrett can get the ball to Irvin the way Troy could, but it's just crossing our fingers for now." But Katz calmly sat tight rather than entertain thoughts of giving up on Irvin because of that concern. "The Cowboys' offense is still designed to get the ball in his hands. We'll just see what happens."

Dutch Harbor's Dorsey Levens might as well have held out longer for all the good it did him to report to the team.
The Dawgs hadn't
found an I.R.
replacement for him
yet as of presstime.
But in an odd sort of way, Baltimore may come out of that situation with the Packers' most valuable valuable fantasy player behind Favre and Freeman. Their kicker, Ryan Longwell.

"Here's hoping Antonio Freeman gets stopped at the one after most of his long receptions, and they go for the field goal," said Katz.

Exmos on the march

By PEARL NICHOLAS Hebron Biweekly Bugle HEBRON -- Two ghosts

down, one to go.

The East Hartford Ex-Eskimos rallied behind Steve Young's 27-point performance Monday night to overcome the Lackawanna Lancers 37-21, giving the Exmos their first 2-0 start since the 1996 Pee Wee Bowl title team. But perhaps more important, the Exmos have slammed the closet door on a couple of their most embarrassing skeletons. The Exmos opened the season with a two-point victory over the Flint Bison, a team that has historically treated East Hartford like a president would treat a blue dress from the Gap.

The Exmos had beaten the Bison only once in five previous meetings, with Flint winning its four games by an average score of 51.7 to 19.5. The Bison gored the Exmos twice last season, virtually clinching the Kotter Division (that is, if you count unimportant things like head-tohead meetings) with a 54-9 whipping on the penultimate. week of the season.

After the harpooned Exmos limped into the playoffs, the Bison finished their work with a 64-33 thrashing in the opening round.

"Needless to say, seeing 'Flint' next to the first line of the schedule didn't exactly have me clicking my heels. Well, that and my knee injury," Exmos owner Chris Reidy said. "It was certainly satisfying to eke out a victory against a team that is not only among the TFL elite, but has tapdanced on our parkas a few too many times along the Next up were the Lancers, who in their only season, 1994, opened with a 66-37 dirt-napping of the then-West Hartford Exmos. That got the Exmos rolling down the sheer incline of a 4-10 season, their only losing record in six years. It was looking bleak again for East Hartford, which trailed 19-9 going into the Monday night game. But for the second game in a row, Young carried the Exmos to a victory.

"That one was another relief," Reidy said. "Especially since I'd been reading that the Lancers were destined to play the Test Especially with another big challenge staring the Exmos in the eye. Next week brings the Perennially Great Pyles, another team that has had its way with the Exmos. Denver holds a 5-2 series edge, beating East Hartford twice in the final four weeks last season.

"One thing about the Pyles -they always come to play," Reidy said. "We'll have to strap on the mukluks and try to get ready for another test."

Tubes in the Sweeney Bowl, and that all the other franchises might as well focus on their New Year's Eve party plans. I'll tell you, Steve Young is beginning to look like another Emmitt."

The Exmos could use another Emmitt -- even Kelly -- in the backfield. Through two games, East Hartford's running backs have totaled four points, three coming on Ricky Watters' 100-yard game Sunday.

"We can't expect to keep winning with that kind of production, if you can call it that," Reidy said. "We can't keep waiting for Steve Young to bail us out every
