The TFL's convention lasted a bit longer than a few people bargained for, after the World Trade Center was attacked on getaway day.

The party turns serious

By Pushpin Papoo
TFL Today Correspondent

Normally the first newsletter of the year would summarize the antics of the just-completed convention, which this time included a Touch Classic in Central Park, a Yankee Game, and a draft held in a gorgeous suite high over Times Square.

This convention, though, will be remembered for what happened after it was over. It will be a sobering memory, even though all who experienced it are home safe and sound now.

The TFL Today would not presume to do a better job of recounting what happened on the fateful Tuesday of September 11 than has already been done in TrashTalk by those who went through it.

We would not try to improve on the various accounts of the travails of getting home that you've already read.

We simply express relief for the safety of friends, and the state of our readiness now to resume the business of football.
