After 2-6 start, Kitchen closing in on playoffs

By Billy Baroo
Anchorage Beacon

ANCHORAGE — After his team began the season with two measly win in its first eight games, Anchorage Kitchen owner Nate Sagan locked himself inside his downtown home and refused to emerge until his squad got back on track.

Six weeks later, his Kitchen is the hottest team in the Times Football League, and with a 7-6 record, there is still a chance Anchorage could make the Sweeney Bowl tournament.

Sagan's good fortune has made the reclusive Anchorage owner even more superstitious, however. Since the second week of his winning streak, Sagan has refused to appear in public or even log on to TFL Trashtalk for fear of jinxing his winning streak.

When called at home for a comment about his recent good fortune, Sagan was elusive, saying only, "Who's your Daddy, who's your Daddy?"

Division rivals Casey Brogan and Van Williams have been Sagan's latest victims on the field, and both are understandably concerned about the juggernaut the Kitchen has become.

"Man, I thought I had a chance at the playoffs again," said Williams, choking back tears after the Kitchen's 83-37 lambasting of his Willow Weasels in Week 13. "But with Michael Vick and Marvin Harrison out there, what's a poor Weasel to do?"

Brogan was more stoic.

"Of course I'm a little nervous," said the Dutch Harbor Dawgs owner. "Who wouldn't be, with the hottest team in the league trying to chase you down? But all I've got to do is take care of business against and underachieving Willow team in the last week, and I won't even have to consider Sagan's shenanigans."

With one week to play, Anchorage joins Arctic, Lackawanna and Dutch Harbor competing for the Cheechako Conference title.

"Talk about your Groups of Death," Commissioner Ken Sain said.

Power poll

The TFL Power Poll uses a formula that calculates how strong each team is on a weekly basis. It eliminates aberrations (high score, low score) and shows the true expected strength of each team on any given week.

1. Dutch Harbor	101.8
2. Dugway	94.7
3. Arctic	93.3
4. Anchorage	90.5
5. East Hartford	88.7
6. Lackawanna	88.0
7. Alaska	79.8
8. Bagdad	78.4
9. Limerick	73.3
10. Narcoossee	72.5
11. Baltimore	71.3
12. Willow	70.2
13. Tampa Bay	66.0
14. Denver	63.1
15. Flint	62.5

New format a hit with TFL owners

By Scoop Bias
Dugway Herald

The TFL ends its first regular season since expansion this week with most owners happy with the way things have gone.

"I really like the divisional format," East Hartford owner Chris Reidy said.

He's not alone. Most owners have expressed happiness with the new format that means each team plays its three divisional rivals twice during the season.

No one has complained about what was considered the biggest drawback of the change, the fact that all teams couldn't play each other every year.

"I haven't heard a word," Commissioner Ken Sain said. "In fact, it might add some intrigue. If Arctic and Dugway, the top two seeds, advance to the Sweeney Bowl it will be the first time they've met this year.

"How will I defend Bledsoe? What on earth will the Gators do to stop Priest? I can tell Mr. Dolan this much, he doesn't have that much Whupass."

Arctic clinched the top seed in the Sourdough Conference with its victory over Flint. They are chasing Sain's Experiments for the regular-season title and bonus check that goes with it.

Lackawanna also clinched a playoff berth with its win over hapless Marley. This is the fifth straight season the Lancers have advanced to the Sweeney Bowl Tournament, a record. In fact, the Brothers Continelli have never played in the Pee Wee Bowl Tournament.

Mike Continelli asked about the playoff format and found out that the first two rounds of the playoffs are between conference teams.

"Damn, that's a tough road," he said after learning he may have to beat either Dutch Harbor or Anchorage in the first round, then take on Arctic in the conference championship game.

Those four teams are in the top six in the latest Power Poll.

► SEASON ENDS: One of the quirks about the new format is that the top six teams advance to the Sweeney Bowl tournament, the next eight to the Pee Wee Bowl tournament, and two teams get nothing. Nada. Zilch. Season over. Narcoossee and Marley are the unlucky teams this year who will spend the final three weeks of the season with nothing to do. But, since they have done little to manage their teams this year, no one will probably notice the difference.

► RECORD WATCH: The Dutch Harbor Dawgs defense set the TFL record for points scored in a season with a safety, giving them 55 points this season.

Those points might help Casey Brogan's team set another record. The Dawgs have scored 667 points this year. That puts them only 55 points behind Marley's record of 722 in 1995. Considering they scored 70 points this past week without a quarterback, they could easily set the record.

A third record is also under assault. Priest Holmes scored 16 points in less than a half this past weekend and has 185 for the year. Terrell Davis holds the record for a running back in a season with 187. Holmes' lowest total for a game this year was 2 points.

► WHUPASS BAN: Commissioner Sain said this week that he will ban the use of Whupass during the playoffs. The Arctic Gators have given most of the credit for their stunning turnaround from the scum on the bottom of a doormat to Gambell Division champion to the cans of Whupass.

"They are going to have to prove their the better team without drugging their opponents," Sain said.

"Besides, it has come to my attention that Whupass is made with genetically-modified ingredients. They can take their Frankenfood back to Monsanto, we won't have any of that in the TFL."

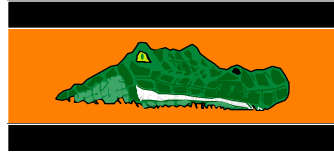

Arctic coach Mark Dolan is quite upset with the ruling, threatening lawsuits against the league and Sain.

► PYLES-NEWTs: One of the meaningless games this week is still a big one. Denver has a slim chance at making the playoffs, but must beat arch-rival Bagdad and then get help.

Bagdad holds a very slim two-game lead over Denver on the all-time victory list, the only claim to glory that the master of goo, Scott Lacy, can claim.

"I hope Scotty wins that game," Sain said. "If he loses that ATWO title, well, the boy would have nothing left."

WEEK 14 PREVIEW

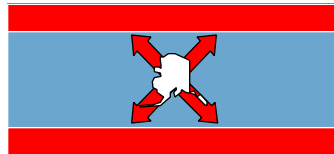

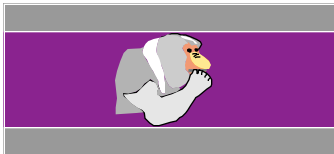

Lackawanna at Arctic

Series record: Lancers lead series 4-1-0.

Outlook: Lackawanna is only playing for pride. Arctic must win for a shot at the regular season title. Should be a rout.

Prediction: Arctic 54, Lackawanna 23.

Narcoossee at East Hartford

Series record: Nose Apes lead series 7-5-0.

Outlook: The Ex'Mos clinch the division title with a win. Narcoossee, um, gets to change more diapers. Football season is over.

Prediction: Narcoossee 32, East Hartford 29.

Willow at Dutch Harbor

Series record: Dawgs lead series 7-4-1.

Outlook: The Dawgs have wrapped up the points title. Now, they must lock down a playoff berth. They'll get it.

Prediction: Dutch Harbor 62, Willow 37.

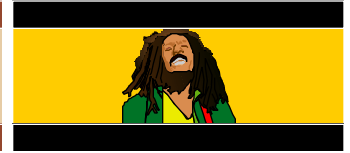

Bagdad at Denver

Series record: Newts lead series 9-7-0.

Outlook: One of the league's best rivalries has little on the line. Denver has a slim shot at the playoffs. The Newts have nothing to play for.

Prediction: Denver 33, Bagdad 28.

Flint at Marley

Series record: Bison lead series 3-2-1.

Outlook: Who cares? This is the final game of the season for Marley, which didn't even qualify for the Pee Wee Bowl tournament.

Prediction: Flint 33, Marley 21.

Limerick at Baltimore

Series record: Barons lead series 7-4-2.

Outlook: Baltimore doesn't deserve to be in position for the playoffs, but it doesn't deserve the two T. Rexes it owns either. C'est la vie.

Prediction: Baltimore 25, Limerick 19.

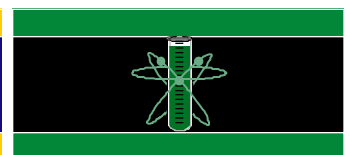

Anchorage at Tampa Bay

Series record: Loogs lead series 1-0-0.

Outlook: Have the Kitchen stopped scoring yet? The hottest team in the league needs help to make the playoffs.

Prediction: Anchorage 77, Tampa Bay 20.

Alaska at Dugway

Series record: Experiments lead series 7-4-1.

Outlook: The Oosiks need a win and some help for the playoffs. Dugway is closing in on its third regular-season championship.

Prediction: Dugway 45, Alaska 36.

Clearing up the playoff picture

FIREWEED

Dugway

The Experiments have clinched the division title and top seed in the Sourdough Conference. The only thing to play for is the regular-season title. Their only competition are the Gators. A win or an Arctic loss locks it up.

MULDOON

East Hartford

The Ex-Eskimos need a win over Narcoossee or a Baltimore loss to clinch the Muldoon Division title. They clinch a wildcard berth if Alaska loses to Dugway.

SPENARD

Dutch Harbor

The Dawgs will win this division if they beat Willow this week and can keep any part of their 60-point lead over the Kitchen. If they lose, they make it if Anchorage loses. If the Kitchen wins, however, it's hello Pee Wee.

GAMBELL

Arctic

The Gators need a victory over Lackawanna and a Dugway loss to Alaska to win the regular season title. They lead the Tubes in points. If they maintain that lead, then they win the title and extra bonus cash.

Alaska

The Oosiks need to beat Dugway, and hope that Baltimore wins and East Hartford loses. If that happens, the Barons win the Muldoon and the Oosiks are the wildcard team. Otherwise, say hi to Pee Wee.

Baltimore

The Barons must beat Limerick and hope the Nose Apes upset East Hartford to win the division. A win clinches at least a wildcard berth. If they lose, they need Bagdad to beat Denver to make the playoffs.

Anchorage

The Kitchen need help. They should have little trouble humiliating Tampa Bay. Once that is complete, they need Dutch Harbor to lose to Willow or they need to outscore the Dawgs by 60 or more points.

Lackawanna

The Lancers clinched the wildcard berth, since they own the tiebreakers over both Anchorage and Dutch Harbor. They will face the Spenard Division winner in the first-round of the playoffs.

Denver

The Pyles must win. Then, they have a chance of making the playoffs. They need Baltimore to lose. Then, it won't matter what East Hartford does. The Ex-Mos win the Muldoon and the Pyles are the wildcard team.

Limerick

The preseason Sweeney Bowl favorites close out a disappointing regular season hoping to stay healthy for fourth-straight appearance in the Pee Wee tourney. Organizers may change its name to the Bourque tournament.

Willow

The Weasels have been officially eliminated and are settling into the role of spoiler, trying to deny a playoff berth to Dutch Harbor.

Flint

Flint avoided the embarrassment of being so bad they couldn't even qualify for the Pee Wee field. That goes to others. They get to punch in their easy victory this weekend over Marley.

Bagdad

The Newts have been eliminated from the playoffs and are preparing for their second straight appearance in the Pee Wee Bowl tournament, where experts predict they'll be a fixture for many years.

Narcoossee

The Grape Apes have suffered the season's biggest humility. They will be one of two teams this year to not play any games during weeks 15-17. That's the first time that has happened since 1995.

Tampa Bay

The Loogs end a disappointing first season with the honor of getting bitch slapped around the field by the suddenly very powerful Anchorage lineup. Then, they'll make the Pee Wee tournament where they should exit as quickly as Houck did.

Marley

The Wailers will join Narcoossee on the sidelines for the rest of this month watching good fantasy football teams still compete in one of two tournaments. Maybe they'll pick up pointers to avoid this fate in the future.
